WHAT'S NEW IN NOVEMBER

High School Series: Peace of Mind

Parents of high school students! With mental health, anxiety, depression and much more being so prevalent in the lives of students, during November we will be diving into the series Peace of Mind where we will look at these issues and scripture, while hopefully providing some tools if they are dealing with these things or know someone who is. We hope this is helpful for students, but we also want to equip you as parents to have conversations with your students! Please feel free to check out axis.org to access their parent guides and conversation kits on these topics - and so many more! Feel free to email bmedley@thenaz.church for more info or if you have any questions!
